THOMAS C. DULL
City of Los Angeles

Since 1999, the Los Angeles County West Vector Control District (LACWVCD) has offered weekend response service as part of its Africanized honeybee (AHB) program. During this five-year period, the weekend service was provided to augment the standard Monday through Friday operations as a level of comfort to the public until the community was educated about AHB and how to safely coexist with them.

Santa Monica

As of January 31, 2005, the LACWVCD will no longer offer weekend response service for Africanized honeybees.

HAROLD HOFMANN
Lawndale

SANDRA JACOBS
El Segundo

LACWVCD will continue to provide AHB response service Monday through Friday as it has for the previous five years, by calling (310) 915-7370.

DOUGLAS STERN
Rancho Palos Verdes

Weekend calls will be handled by the private pest control industry. Weekend AHB calls made directly to LACWVCD will be referred to a list of licensed private pest control operators (PCO). Attached is the list of the private pest control operators in your area licensed by the Department of Agriculture to handle and remove bees. These PCOs have been screened to confirm that they will service all areas within your city on weekends. It is recommended that this list be distributed for reference purposes to the appropriate operators, contacts and/or agencies within your city that may handle weekend citizen calls concerning AHB. The distribution of this list does not imply that LACWVCD endorses, recommends, or guarantees the work of any of the listed PCOs. A second weekend option for all cities is to refer callers to the Yellow Pages under "Pest Control". If you prefer, you may still refer weekend callers to LACWVCD at (310) 915-7370 and a live operator will assist citizens in the referral process to a private PCO.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact Robert Saviskas, Executive Director, at (310) 915-7370 ext. 223.

Very truly yours,

Robert Saviskas
Executive Director
