Meet Councilwoman Dionne Faulk

Dionne Faulk is the first African-American woman to be elected and the second woman seated on the Inglewood City Council.

She is committed to this great City of Inglewood that is cutting-edge, resilient, and progressive. It is the City of Champions! As Councilwoman, she will fight for sustainable jobs, affordable housing, a balanced budget, and make decisions that are responsive to the needs of Inglewood residents.

Councilwoman Faulk is a lifelong public servant and has worked for the State of California as a Civil Servant for over 15 years. Before being elected to the Inglewood City Council, she started her public service career as a Commissioner appointed to the Los Angeles County Department of Consumer Affairs by the Honorable Yvonne Brathwaite-Burke. At the State level, Councilwoman Faulk served as Regional Representative for the Association of California State Supervisors Union. For over five years, she has served on the State of California State Employee Association Foundation Board representing SEIU and concurrently as an elected Assembly Delegate for the 62nd Assembly District representing Inglewood.

Joining the ranks of Inglewood leadership, Councilwoman Faulk was elected to the Inglewood Unified School Board in 2017 and served as a member of the Board of Education for almost four years.

An active member of the community, Councilwoman Faulk holds membership in her beloved Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., and Jack and Jill of America Inc. She is also a member of the Los Angeles African-American Women’s Public Policy Institute.
Residents, businesses, and organizations are allowed to use the facility for neighborhood watch meetings and activities, merchant/tenant meetings, and organizational meetings that benefit Inglewood residents.

The Community Center Liaison's responsibilities include assisting residents and business owners with identifying and accessing available programs and services offered by the City to improve public safety and other quality of life concerns. Additional responsibilities are establishing and maintaining community resource contacts to provide information, referral, and other services to develop communication and solidarity among residents, businesses, and organizations within the community.

Aaron Elzie is the Community Center Liaison and can be contacted Monday thru Thursday from 10a – 4p via email at aaelzie@cityofinglewood.org.

Due to the spread of Covid-19, the Inglewood Police Community Center is closed for all public access until further notice.
